EXAMPLE SEARCH ON INTELLECTUAL DISABILITY

- If I want to see what tests might be included in this database on intellectual disability, I can enter that phrase into the first search box. This yields four tests:
The first two listed include HTML full text. The first result is the Supports Intensity Scale. If you click on the HTML link associated with that record, you can read about the scale—its limitations, focus, and strengths—and determine if it fits your needs.
• Information about purchasing the scale is also available - just look above the full text for cost, publisher, and so on.

• The third and fourth results are not available in full text, though if you click on the title, you can still access the purchasing information as well as the published test description, which can help in determining if the test is a good choice for you.
